You ask, "What makes your school,
your V. H. S.? What makes it tick?"

We answer, "Many things . . .

"Our woods and fields and little, friendly towns
And men who put the public welfare first.

The yellow buses chugging faithfully up hill and down
In sun or rainy weather;

Their drivers and the other men and women
whose daily work
Makes sure we're warmed and fed,
And that our days move forward smoothly.

Our building's classrooms, labs and halls which,
like a magnet, daily draw us in;
And, at the heart of things, the men and women
we call 'the faculty'.

Yet first and last our school is boys and girls who daily
Ride the buses, throng the class rooms . . .
Our school's the lengthened shadow of ourselves."

SENIORS

Our Time Has Run Out

"Out of school life into life's school" was chosen as the senior class motto. The seniors believe that they are finishing this school only to enter a greater school called "Life". These years of preparation have aided them in meeting the trials which will beset them, and they have taught them to take advantage of their opportunities. They decided on the red rose as the class flower and blue and white as the class colors.

As juniors they made a big hit with their Junior Play, "Ghost Wanted", a mystery, and with the proceeds they planned a successful prom having a "South of the Border" theme. Their Senior Play was "Riddle Me Riches", a comedy.

For four years they've been the major factor in making their school tick.

1. Look close and you'll see Tom Hogshead's toes. Freddie Harper's tonsils are showing, too.

2. Just pals! Wayne Harner and Ann Simmons.

3. Practicing the second scene, second act of the Junior Play are Barbara Rose and Freddie Harper.

4. Carl Taylor campaigning for Queen Norma.

5. Bob Smith and his bevy of bathing beauties.

6. Wonder of wonders. We caught Earlene Turner frowning.

7. Where are those cigars going with Frances Henard and Geraldine Walker?

8. "Abba-dabba-dabba-dabba," says La Dora Deaton.

9. Formal posing by the famous clarinetist, Lola Mae Fairless and Swing-Me-Sugars, Charles Upton, George Harner, Ray Hester, Steve Kerley, and Norma Hester.

10. Margaret Racey and Norma Davidson all dressed up in their Sunday best.

For Us It's Just A Few Ticks More

Finishing their third year of high school the juniors now know the Gettysburg Address and have heard of Poe and Longfellow through their American Literature books. Besides such scholarly things, they have learned that they can manage important activities, such as planning the Junior-Senior Prom and going dramatic in the Junior Play. When the juniors were but freshmen they were the largest class in school and are now the second largest by two members. The school year of '50-'51 would hardly have been possible without the challenging ideals of the industrious junior class.

SOPHOMORES

Half-Past High School

The sophomores have passed the half-way mark in high school and are well on their way to becoming upper-classmen. By taking advantage of opportunities they now have two of their male members on the varsity squad, and two cheerleaders. Thirteen of their members are also members of the VHS orchestra and the chorus has thirteen sophomore members. The girls should more or less dominate the sophomore class because they outnumber the boys two to one. As a whole the sophomore class holds a high percentage on the honor roll, proving that silly sophomores can be smart as well. The sophomores are looking forward to their next half of high school life.

Our Time Is Coming

The freshmen have added many new experiences to their lives since their first day of high school. They faced the ridicule of the upper-classmen and bore the many trials that come upon the green freshmen. But after the first month they became as seasoned as any senior, and high school was not so difficult after new friends had been won and new woes conquered. They began electing officers, joining in the school activities, and taking the new life in their stride. So far, they have done their part in making their school tick, and in the future lies their chance to become the "wheels" at VHS.

SPORTS

Time Out

Time maches on, and with it go phenomenal records of outstanding high schools in the world of sports. The 1951-52 edition of VHS sports is the aftermath of a series of powerful athletic aggregations. Many lettermen were lost via graduation, thus a downfall came as no surprise.

Softball was the curtain-raiser, the initial encounter occurring early in September. Ridgway dealt the Eagles two defeats, 12-7 and 17-2, while the Birds split two contests with Karnak, winning 10-0 and losing 5-3.

Basketball came second on the menu. Being the popular sport that it is many fans anticipated another powerhouse five. However, with only one letterman back, the Eagles failed in their attempt to measure up to previous standards. Some of the high points of the season were a mid-season victory over Carrier Mills after being behind by 20 points at one time; a 48-45 win over Cairo scored in the last minute of play; a 64-53 decision over our arch-rival Metropolis; and a fine showing against Cave-in-Rock, one of the state's strongest teams.

Intramural basketball, volley ball, and ping pong also had their followers. The boys' basketball championship went to Simpson, while the Chiggers captured the flag in the girls' league. The Dough Girls took top spot in volley ball, with Bennie Russell and Jim Taylor carrying away ping pong honors. With the entrance of spring came baseball and track. The diamond crew had a so-so record, with inclement weather interfering greatly with the team's success.

For Sports

Track fans saw very little action this year. An intramural meet was held May 15, with bus and no-bus teams competing. A trophy was presented to the victorious team, with ribbons going to individual winners.

Summing up the entire sports season, one can only say that hard work and diligent practice by many inexperienced rookies and very few veterans accomplished a satisfactory standing.

THEY SUPPORT THE EAGLES IN VICTORY OR DEFEAT

Attractive in their white sweaters and swirling blue skirts, the VHS cheerleaders added color and verve to the season's games with their original yells and formations developed under the direction of their sponsor, Miss Francis Amos.

Rarely has the school boasted a more enthusiastic or consistantly loyal group of cheerleaders

The group used a variety of formations

CROWNING A QUEEN IS EXCITING BUSINESS

Three days before Thanksgiving during the half of the exciting Rosiclare-Vienna ballgame, all eyes were focused upon the 1950-51 basketball queen and her seven attendants.

For the first time in the history of VHS the former queen, Cherry Crews and her escort, Dean Nicholson, took part in the ceremony. Also, for the first time in three years the identity of the queen, Norma Hester, was disclosed before the night of the crowning.

1. Business Manager Frank Nutty gave free rides before the election.

2. Signs played a big part in the election.

3. All the candidates' assemblies sparkled with vocal talent.

4. The big night at last.

YOUTH FOR CHRIST Is VHS' Most Active Club

Every Wednesday during the school year a faithful group of Youth For Christ followers gathered in the lower study hall and held inspirational meetings. Shirley Hundley, the song leader, and Barbara Rose, pianist, began the meeting with a selection of gospel songs. Jim Corbitt, the president or Bennie Russell, the vice-president, then took charge of the group and introduced the speaker. The speakers usually are ministers, students from VHS or surrounding colleges. Mary Ann Plater, Secretary and Treasurer, was kept busy recording the minutes of the meeting and collecting dues.

Among the many things accomplished by the YFC during '50-'51 was the organization of a Gospel Caravan. This Caravan group traveled to churches of all denominations, and presented religious programs throughout the year.

There's Never A Dull Moment For Future Farmers and Homemakers

Membership in the Future Farmers and Homemakers of America is restricted to students who are or have been members of agriculture and home economics classes. Their activities throughout the year include highly original initiations for new members, a mother-daughter banquet, slumber parties, hay rides, stock and sewing projects, as well as attendance at district and sectional meetings.

Outstanding activity of F. F. A. this year was the sale of advertising for a club calendar. Proceeds were used for the purpose of a fine registered calf. By vote the group chose Howard Powell to care for the calf. Eventually he will return a calf to another club member as the beginning of a chain project. Judging contests and a parliamentary and public speaking contest also drew participants from the Vienna Club this year.

The F. H. A. was unfortunate in having no permanent sporsor until the second semester when Mrs. Janet McCoy was employed as home economics teacher. High point of the year was F. F. A. Week in May. The slumber party (without sleep) and mother-daughter banquet will be long remembered.

GIBSON HALL MUSIC MAKERS

Music students at VHS begin every day with gentle, dulcent strains of harmony produced by themselves under the long-suffering direction of Mr. Austin Gibson. For each morning at exactly 8:40 Gibson Hall students take their places and, instruments in hand, begin the forty-minute practice session.

Even though the group has not yet completely rubbed the sleep from its eyes the work-out on marches, overtures and waltzes which will eventually be performed at assemblies, plays and that goal of the entire year's efforts, the concert, is usually brisk and business-like.

"For more than twenty years Mr. Gibson has guided the activities of the music department at VHS and seen its membership grow from a handful to well over a hundred students. This year, for the first time, musicians enjoyed the facilities of the completely finished music room.

ARE ACTIVE AND ENTHUSIASTIC

Later the second orchestra and members of instrument classes receive instruction which will enable them to join the first-hour practice of the orchestra proper.

The girls' chorus also practices daily and makes its principal appearance at the concert. Most members of the chorus remember Mr. Gibson's stories of his days as a professional musician with as much pleasure as they do the instruction in group singing.

AS ALWAYS THE CONCERT WAS A TREAT FOR BOTH EYE AND EAR

Though Friday the thirteenth has a bad name what with one thing and another, April 13, date of the twenty-second annual VHS concert was mild and pleasant. One of the largest crowds in the history of the school was in attendance; in fact not a single unfortunate incident marred the evening. Both chorus and orchestra distinguished themselves but high point of the program was the finale in which a boys' and girls' chorus combined with orchestral accompaniment sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic".

HECTIC BUT HAPPY WERE

The Illianna and Vi Hi Opinion are the responsibility of the eighth hour publications class. From the fall subscription campaigns through the weekly struggle which brings forth the mimeographed five-page Vi Hi Opinion to the final delivery date of the year book the group exists in a state of continual crisis.

Editor Barbara Rose and Gloria Keltner work on year book copy

1. Margaret Racey was assisted by Garnett Gray and Amanda Smith on the editorial page.

2. Tommy Benton, staff artist, does a bit of work under the close supervision of the second-page staff, Norma Davidson and Surilda Hundley.

3. Mary Ann Plater, VI-HI OPINION editor, looks well pleased with her efforts.

4. Advertising Manager Jim Corbitt holds a layout conference with his assistant, Garnett Gray.

5. "Stop!" Charles Upton tells his assistant Patsy Jones. "I'll finish the column!"

THE HOURS SPENT IN PUBLICATIONS

Bob Smith had the sports page under his supervision while Sue Thomas and Jackie Williams wrote the always-popular "Low-Down" column.

The publications staff also took care of numerous projects not included directly in the publication of the year book and newspaper. Mimeographing of programs for school affairs and tests were among their activities.

"ONE WILD NIGHT" WAS JUNIORS' CHOICE

"Jade" is terrified

Many wild nights of practice — dress rehearsal being the wildest — preceded the final performance on October 20 of the Junior's play "One Wild Night". The high point of the play was the explosion of a bomb which reduced Jodwillow, the butler, in the person of "Zack" Murphy to his underwear but the play contained many interesting and amusing situations. The closing curtain, in fact, found the entire cast fast asleep under the influence of a mysterious solution which Jodwillow had concocted with his "Boy Wonder Chemical Set".

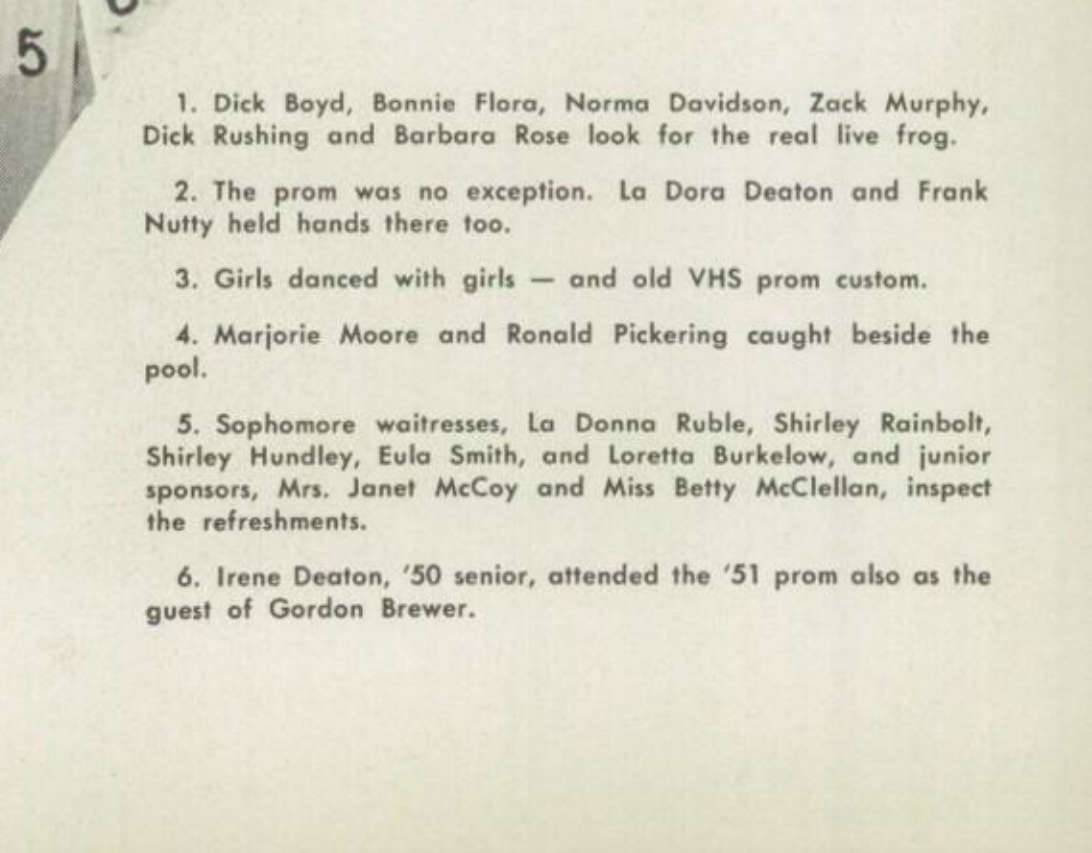
WHILE SENIORS CHOSE "RIDDLE ME RICHES"

The Senior Play cast had more than their share of troubles during play practice, but on the night of May 4, they were elated because they had received more than their share of success.

The play was a light comedy with the plot centering around an average American family from Riverview, Illinois, who won a $24,000 jackpot of prizes. "Riddle Me Riches" was the radio program from which the play got its name. The many trials and tribulations which beset the poor winners resulted in a hilarious show.



1. Dick Boyd, Bonnie Flora, Norma Davidson, Zack Murphy, Dick Rushing and Barbara Rose look for the real live frog.

2. The prom was no exception. La Dora Deaton and Frank Nutty held hands there too.

3. Girls danced with girls — and old VHS prom custom.

4. Marjorie Moore and Ronald Pickering caught beside the pool.

5. Sophomore waitresses, La Donna Ruble, Shirley Rainbolt, Shirley Hundley, Eula Smith, and Loretta Burkelow, and junior sponsors, Mrs. Janet McCoy and Miss Betty McClellan, inspect the refreshments.

6. Irene Deaton, '50 senior, attended the '51 prom also as the guest of Gordon Brewer.

7. Margaret Racey, Miss Francis Amos and Norma Hester make a pretty picture.

8. Junior President, Bennie Russell, looks on approvingly while Bob Smith crowns Janet Taylor, Prom Queen.

FOR THE NIGHT OF THE PROM THE GYM BECAME A GARDEN

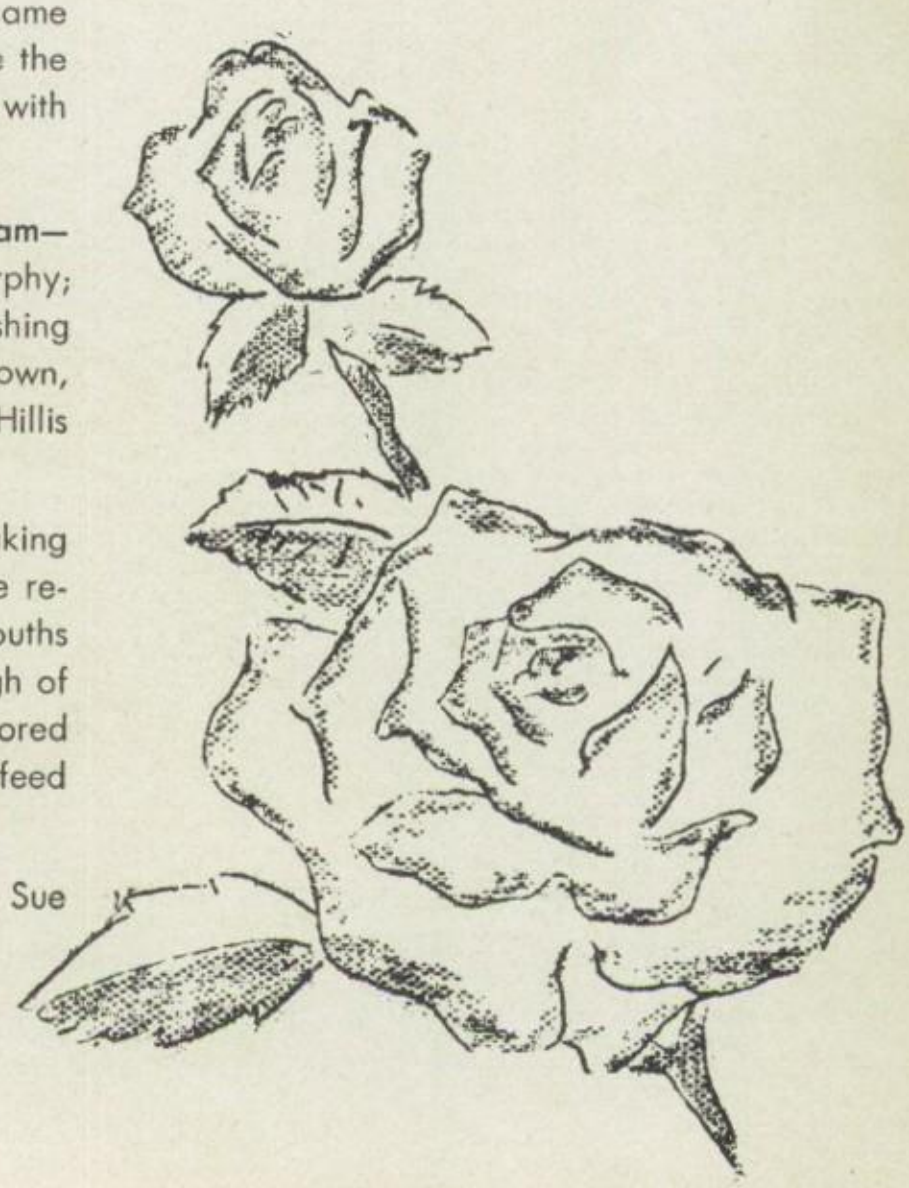
On the night of May 11, soft lights glowing through a draped ceiling of delicate pastel colors, flowers everywhere, and in the center of the floor, a pool complete with water lilies and a real live frog made the '51 prom one of the most attractive in recent years.

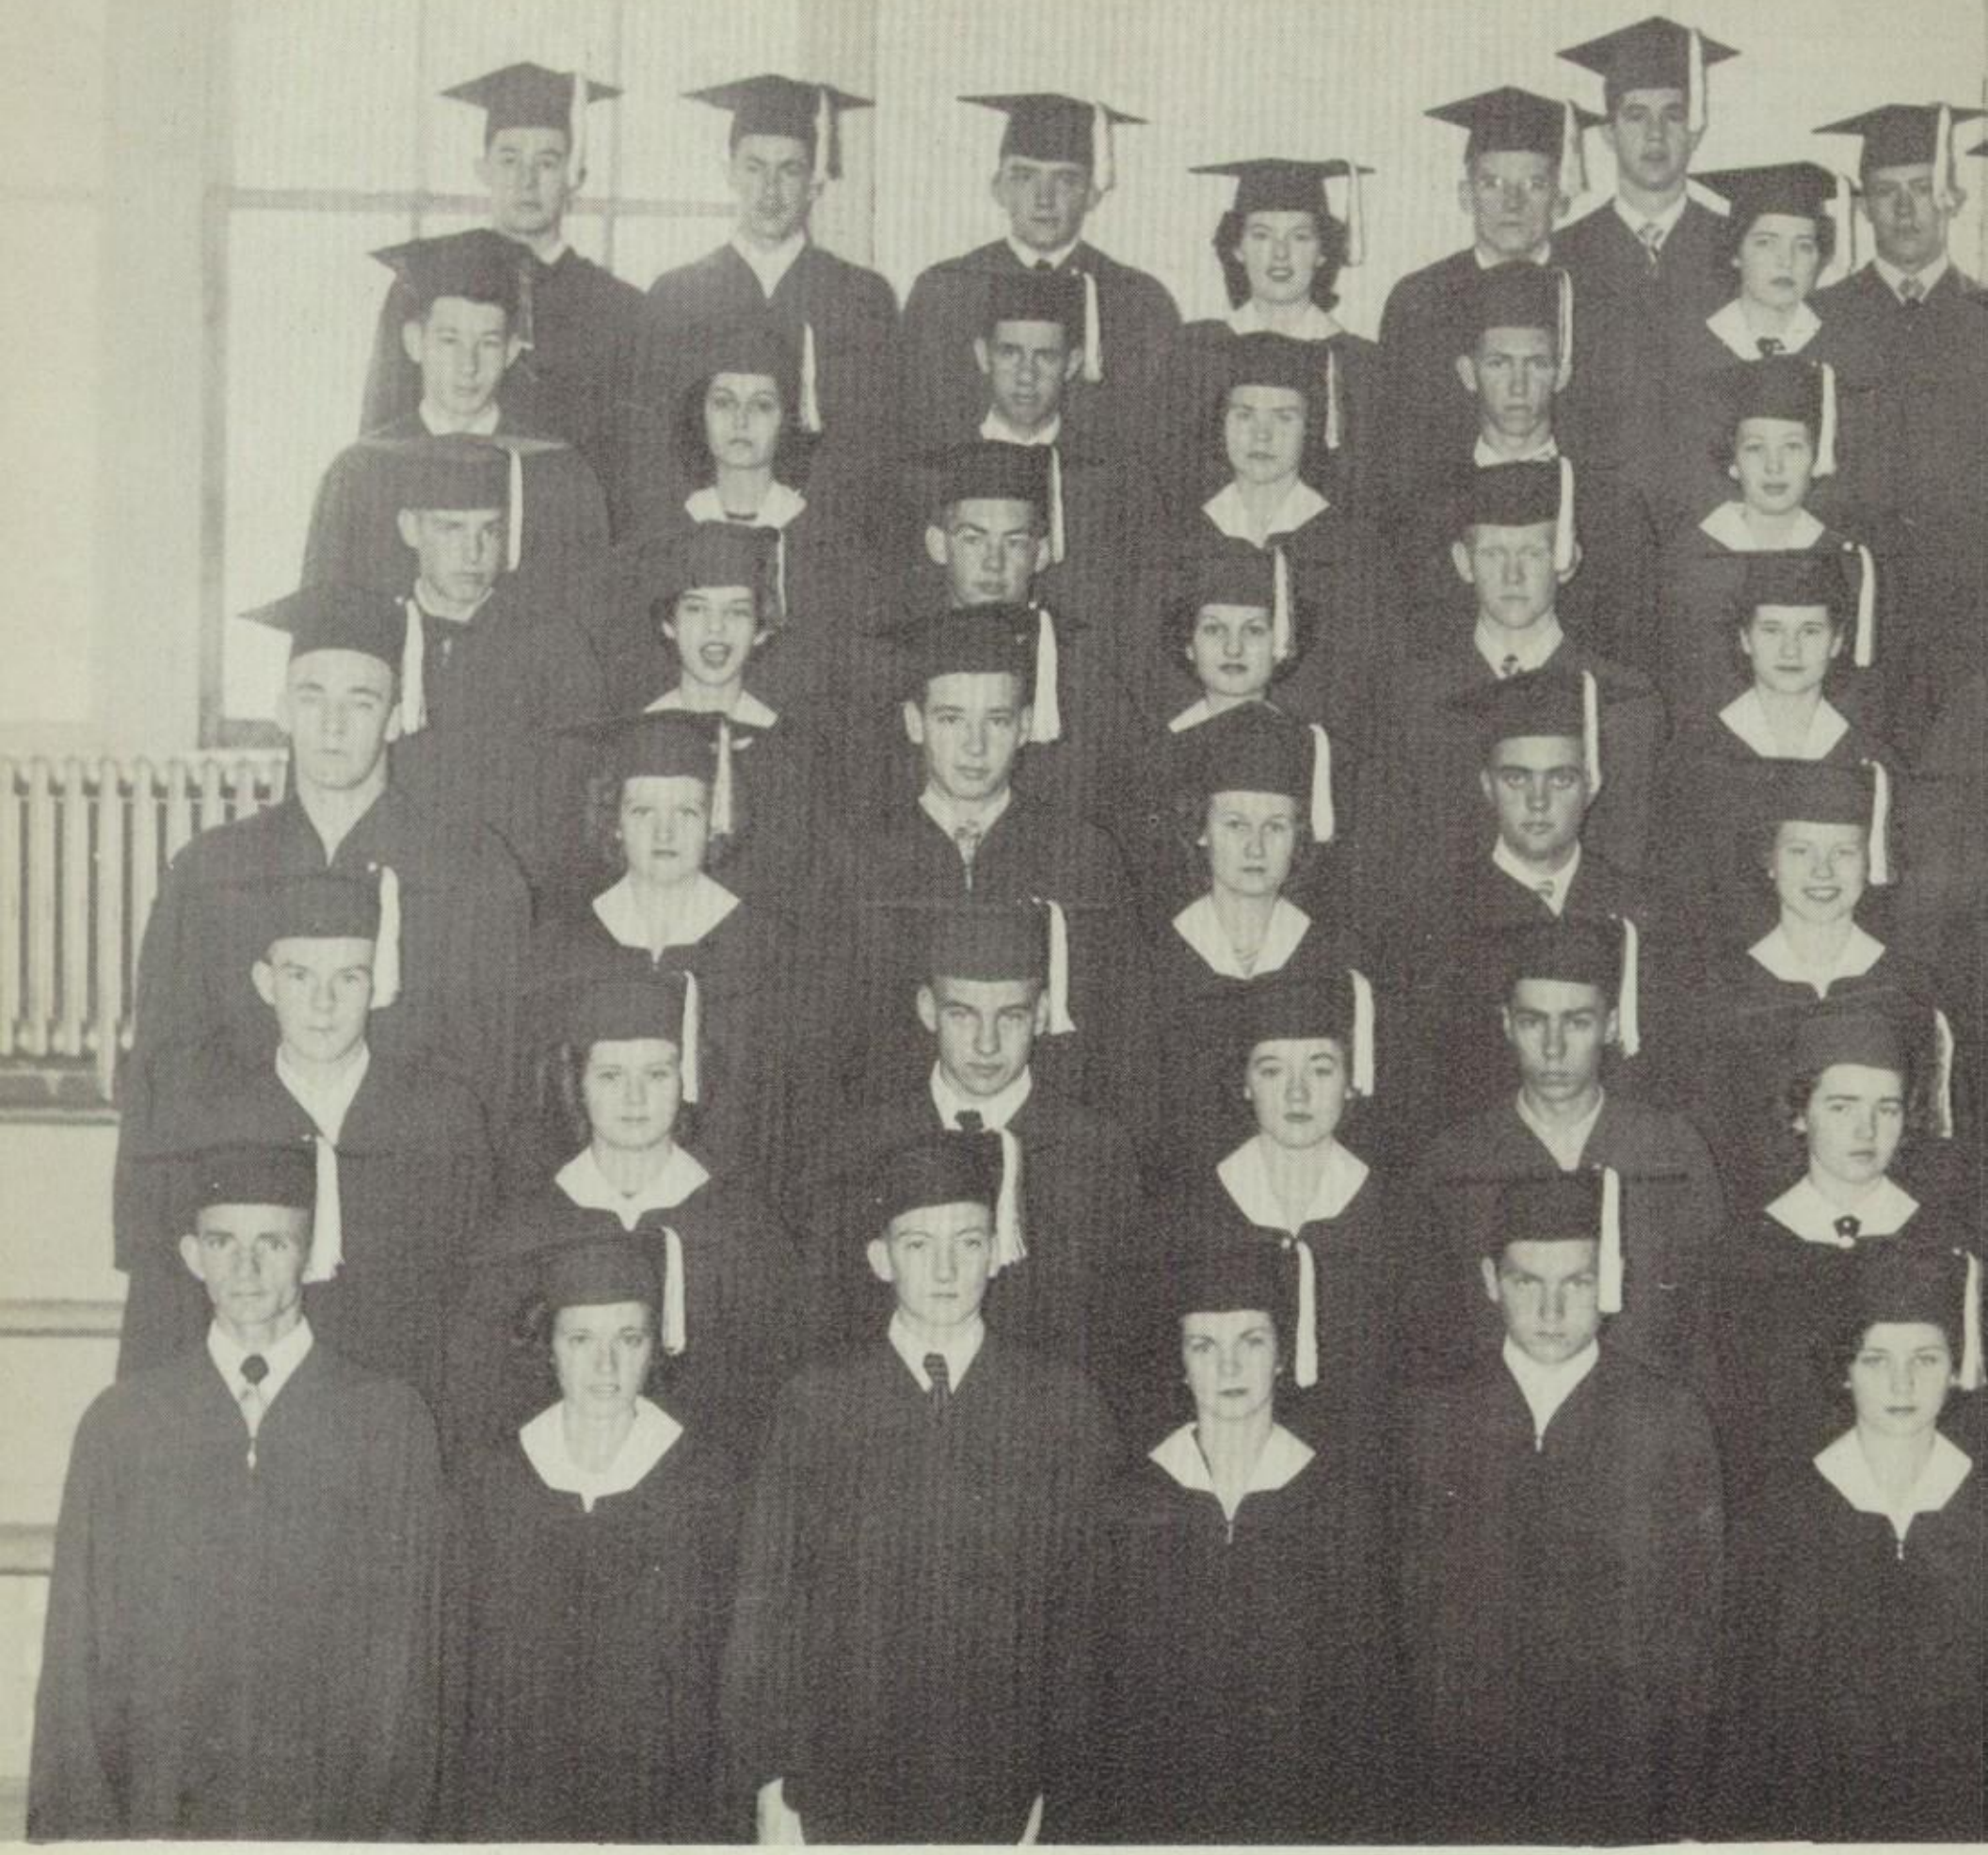
High point of the prom was the crowning of a queen chosen by lot from the senior girls. Each girl as she entered signed her name and dropped it in a box. The queen's name was drawn by Junior President, Bennie Russell, just before the first dance. Louise Taylor was the lucky girl crowned with a wreath of red roses.

Committees in charge of arrangements included: Program—Sue Thomas, Bill Owens, Nellie Evans and Zack Murphy; Refreshments—Barbara George, Barbara Racey, Dick Rushing and Billy Brown; Decorations—Tommy Benton, Eddie Brown, Carolyn Huckleberry, Dixie Hinkle, Mary E. Johnson and Hillis Johnson.

All day before the prom a tantalizing smell of baking cake pervaded the building. At intervals members of the refreshment committee appeared clad in aprons, their mouths wreathed with crumbs. There was some doubt that enough of the dainty little cakes with the numerals "'51" in colored icing would survive the "sampling" of the committee to feed the juniors and their guests.

Formal entertainment included songs by Nellie Evans, Sue Thomas, Zack Murphy and Bill Owens.





GRADUATION WAS MAY 25

A hot night; mingled feelings of joy and sadness; the faces, familiar after four years, suddenly strange above the blue folds of the scholarly gowns. Dr. Douglas Lawson of the College of Education at Southern Illinois University was the speaker. The distance to the front of the stage where Mr. Hogshead waited with the diplomas was unbelievably long.

THEY'LL BE FACULTY MEMBERS SOME DAY

A brand new club, organized only a few days before the end of the school year, the Future Teachers Association gives indications of being a worthwhile addition to school activities. Claiming for its members those students who are planning to pursue teaching as a career, the group will have opportunities to take part in school and community projects both enjoyable and useful in furthering their collective ambitions to someday be effective teachers.

The Future Teachers Association is a national organization so the chapter at VHS will have the assistance of sister chapters in other schools and of the national headquarters in planning and evaluating its work.
